

Alpine High-tech Venture Forum 24-25 June - Lausanne, Switzerland

The Alpine High-tech Venture Forum will be a unique occasion for 60 early stage companies in Life Sciences, Clean Technology and Information Technology sectors from Switzerland and the rest of Europe to meet and present themselves to active international investors and corporations seeking investment and partnerships.

AHVF will be an important platform to promote a dynamic and professional image of innovative entrepreneurship and venture capital of the Alpine area and the rest of Europe.

The event offers:

- ☐ Partnering opportunities for entrepreneurs, investors and corporations
- ☐ Highly-specialized, structured business presentations with direct feedback from experts
- ☐ Roundtable discussions on cutting edge topics with top European experts
- ☐ Ample networking time to establish new contacts and follow-up existing ones

Participation is free of charge for presenting companies (but based on selection) and members of the investor jury.

Out of the 60 companies that will participate in the Alpine High-tech Venture Forum, 30 companies reside within Switzerland and its surrounding regions, and 30 companies belong to the EUREKA network. Presenting companies will be chosen from a pool of over 100 applicants.

The Award Winners (Top 25%) will get the opportunity to take part in the European Venture Summit 2015. This event is part of the European Venture Contest (EVC) that finds and evaluates companies through a Pan-European competition. The EVC is the only free of charge internationally delivered venture competition and is specifically targeted at early stage high tech companies in ICT, Cleantech and Healthcare.

150 attendees – +50 Swiss and International investors – 60 presenting companies – ample networking opportunities – discussion panels
